The Bisti/De-Na-Zin Wilderness is a rolling landscape of badlands which offers some of the most unusual scenery in New Mexico. Time and natural elements have etched a fantasy world of strange rock formations made of sandstone, shale, mudstone, coal and silt.

Announcements

The Chiloquin Vector Control District's Board of Trustees will meet on Wed Mar 27th 2019 at 6:30PM in the conference room of the Chiloquin Community Center located at 140 S 1st Street in Chiloquin. Topics include bill paying, appointment of budget committee members, the proposed 2019-2020 budget, and a report from our mosquito control contractor. The public is always welcomed to attend our meetings and discuss mosquito control issues with the Board. Our telephone number is 541 274 0132.

Tree and shrub sale set for March 30

Native tree and shrub seedlings will be available for sale at prices of $2 per tree or less at 9 a.m. Saturday, March 30. The sale will be held on Main Street across from the Klamath County Museum, 1451 Main St. Species available will include vine maple, Oregon ash, Oregon white oak, mockorange, dogwood and spirea. The sale is sponsored by the Klamath Soil and Water Conservation District, the Klamath County Museum, and the Klamath Chapter of the Native Plant Society of Oregon.

March 30th Audubon field trip

Spring is here! Come join Gary Vequist on a birding trip to Shoalwater Bay near Eagle Ridge County Park on Saturday, March 30th to view early migrants, pelicans, migrating geese and swans. The weather forecast seems to be OK, and the birding is easy! Meet at the USFWS parking lot at 1936 California Ave. at 9 AM. The group will carpool to 2 stops on Howard Bay for water birds, then stop at the Shoalwater Bay parking area/trailhead. For those wishing to walk the 1 mile level path, the Old Eagle trail, it will be through ponderosa woods and following the shore of Upper Klamath Lake. The trip will end by 12:30 PM.

Oregon drivers are reminded to remove studded tires by midnight Sunday, March 31 "Drivers are encouraged to not wait until the March 31 deadline to remove their studded tires especially if they aren't driving in the mountain passes between now and then" said Luci Moore, State Maintenance and Operations Engineer. While studded tires are allowed in Oregon by law from November 1 through March 31, ODOT encourages drivers to consider using other types of traction tires or to use chains to help minimize roadway damage caused by studded tires.

What an amazing job the Chiloquin High School boys, Danial Jones & Den Herara, did at the RED CROSS BLOOD DRIVE on March 19th along with Leslie Hernandez, their Sophomore Trainee. These boys worked hard scheduling appointments, calling on follow-ups, and working registration; whereby Red Cross reaped the rewards by collecting 28 pints of blood which goes towards their scholarship. They must collect 70 pints of blood during their school year to split a $500.00 scholarship. To date they have 62 pints to their credit; therefore, the June 5th drive will fulfill their quota with the generous support of our Community!!!

Looking forward to the June 5th Blood Drive that will be held at the Chiloquin Fire & Rescue office as there will be too much going on at the High School. By the way, we had awesome participation by the students, teachers and staff to make this a huge success. I am so pumped about our youth!!!

Modoc War Commemoration Resolution - hearing Wednesday, March 27th at 8:00am at the Capitol in Salem, Oregon. Drafted by Oregon Senator Fred Girod

On March 21, 2019, the Klamath Tribes Public Information/News Department, was notified by OPB, that Oregon State Senator (Fred Girod) watched the OPB (Modoc War) Documentary. This Documentary was Produced with Oregon Experience/OPB and in conjunction with many others and the Klamath Tribes in 2010/2011. The Producer/Writer, Kami Horton, a Chiloquin High School Graduate, chose to do this project (when she became a Producer with OPB) with many of the people she knew here at the tribe, and as a local history commemoration. Her father was also the former Park Ranger at Collier State Park. She had attended high school with many Modoc descendants.

Senator Gerod (District 9) said he's honored to have watched this history documentary and he believes tribal history in its true form is very important for Oregon. He's also happy to be a part of the process that is bringing this Oregon Commemoration Resolution to pass. My understanding after talking to Senator Girod yesterday, is that he watched the documentary, and was so touched by the history and Modoc War information /documentary, he drafted a resolution to commemorate the Modoc War and those who lost their lives and way of life. He was surprised it had not already been done to commemorate the history, and honor the soldiers on both sides of the war. See the video here

Thank you,
Taylor Tupper, Klamath Tribes News/Public Information Department

Notes: I was told there has been changes to the Resolution, but in essence, it will commemorate the death of all involved in the Modoc War of 1872-1873. Cheewa James, who also participated in the Modoc War Documentary, will be attending the Resolution Hearing. Klamath Tribal Chairman, Don Gentry, will be attending the Hearing on behalf of the Klamath Tribes (Klamath, Modoc, Yahooskin Piate People).

Many have speculated on why a Senator from outside the Modoc War District would draft such a resolution. The question that remains to be answered in many of the Modoc's opinion is, "Why wasn't it done sooner by representative in this area? We say "Thank you" Senator Girod for recognizing the significance and importance of Oregon's history and for honoring our warriors, soldiers, and ancestors." - Rayson Tupper, Direct Modoc Descendant

Let us take a moment to reflect and honor the Modoc People

Black Jim, Boston Charley, Schonchin John, Captain Jack - hung October 3, 1873

On May 22, 1873, the Modoc- Hot Creeks surrendered, and on June 1, 1873 Captain Jack surrendered saying, "Jack's legs give out." Thus came to an end one of the most grueling and expensive Indian wars ever fought. Even leaving out the huge expense of paying soldiers, estimates are that it cost $10,000 per Modoc—in 1873 money to subdue these Indians in battle. If the cost were to be calculated in 2008 money, it would amount to $289,170 per Modoc.

*Captain Jack, Boston Charley, Schonchin John, and Black Jim were put on trial for the peace commission murders and hung on October 3, 1873. They were buried at Ft. Klamath, although their heads were shipped to the U. S. Army Museum for study. Warriors Barncho and Slolux were sent to Alcatraz Prison immediately and their families did not know where they had been taken. Shortly thereafter, 150 Modoc men, women, and children were taken to Redding, California, and put on a train carrying them to Oklahoma Indian Territory. Exhausted, hungry, and cold, on a bleak November day they arrived at their new home on the Quapaw Agency, near what today is Miami, Oklahoma. Having fought a battle that created international headlines in its time and that would spawn writings for over a century, history then turned its back on the Modocs. This tribe now started down an obscure road of little interest to the American press or anyone else.

They worked hard to adapt to their new life. As one Indian agent said, “The Modocs plow and sow and reap with the same resistant courage with which they fought.” They were devastated by tuberculosis—almost wiped out by an enemy more lethal than guns. The corrupt Quapaw Agency administration gave them sub-standard food. The Modocs did not receive adequate medical supplies and services. The Modoc population numbers dropped dramatically. For half a century the Modocs struggled to survive.

But survive they did. This was the tribe that wouldn’t die, and today their descendants speak proudly of the tenacious staying power that carried Modocs through years of war, unrest, and disease. As long as the heart and soul of a people have tolerance, tenacity, and boldness, they will never die. *Information taken from the book by Modoc Indian, Cheewa James, Author of the Book "Modoc, the Tribe that wouldn't Die."

Happy National CACFP Week and National Nutrition Month!

Since summer is just around the corner, we want to highlight outstanding achievements of individuals and groups who, through USDA’s Summer Meal Programs, provide nutritious meals to children during the summer months. Our Summer Sunshine Awards recognize sponsors who operate exemplary summer meal programs (Summer Food Service Program [SFSP] and Seamless Summer Option [SSO]) in the Western Region states. SFSP and SSO, collectively referred to as Summer Meal Programs, fill the nutrition gap for low-income children who rely on the National School Lunch Program (NSLP) and School Breakfast Program (SBP) during the school year.

The awards encourage and acknowledge innovation and recognize sponsors who serve communities that are hard to reach; provide recognition to sponsors who have increased the number of summer meals served at their site; and provide recognition to sponsors who work closely with organizations to strengthen the summer meals programs in local communities. We had two Summer Sunshine Awardees in Oregon:

- Chiloquin Park Summer Lunch Program - Successes in leveraging community resources to boost participation; providing enticing enrichment activities for youth; and doubling the amount of meals served from 2017.
- Umatilla Morrow Head Start, Inc. - Success in fostering a “Whole Family” approach by engaging families in health and wellness activities at their summer sites. Their partnership efforts with organizations such as SNAP-Ed, the public library, WIC, and city officials resulted in exemplary summer meals enrichment activities including nutrition education, physical activity, health screenings, and garden education. (They also have CACFP.)

FOOD AND NUTRITION SERVICE

Child and Adult Care Food Program

What Is the Child and Adult Care Food Program?

The Child and Adult Care Food Program (CACFP) helps child and adult care institutions and family or group day care homes provide nutritious foods to young children, at-risk youth, and adults who are chronically impaired.

Who Administers CACFP?

The U.S. Department of Agriculture's (USDA) Food and Nutrition Service (FNS) administers CACFP through grants to States. State agencies administer CACFP through agreements with child and adult care institutions.

How Does CACFP Work?

Child care centers, adult day care centers, family day care homes, afterschool care centers, and emergency shelters receive cash reimbursement for serving meals and snacks that meet Federal nutritional guidelines to eligible children and adult participants. Centers and day care homes may be approved to claim reimbursement for serving up to two meals and one snack per day to each eligible child or adult participant.

Meals served to children in centers are reimbursed at rates based upon a child's eligibility for free, reduced-price, or paid meals.

In day care homes, all meals are served free. Day care home providers who serve children in low-income areas or meet low-income eligibility requirements themselves receive higher levels of reimbursement.

How Can Children and Adults Participate in CACFP?

Infants and children through age 12 in child care centers and day care homes are eligible to participate in CACFP. Adults who are 60 years or older, or are physically or mentally impaired, and enrolled in adult day care are also eligible for CACFP.

In afterschool care centers and emergency shelters, children through age 18 are eligible for free meals and snacks.

Where Can I Go To Learn More About CACFP?

To learn more, please visit CACFP website: <https://www.fns.usda.gov/cacfp/child-and-adult-care-food-program>. For reimbursement rates, visit: <https://www.fns.usda.gov/cacfp/reimbursement-rates>

For more information about participating in CACFP, please contact your State agency: <https://www.fns.usda.gov/cacfp/cacfp-contacts>

Whom at FNS Can I Contact To Discuss CACFP?

Summer Food Service Program

What Is the Summer Food Service Program?

The Summer Food Service Program (SFSP) is a federally funded, State-administered program that reimburses providers who serve free, nutritious meals to children and teens in low-income areas when school is not in session.

Who Administers SFSP?

The U.S. Department of Agriculture's (USDA) Food and Nutrition Service (FNS) administers SFSP at the Federal level. State education agencies administer SFSP in most States. In some areas, however, the State health or social service departments or an FNS regional office may be designated. Locally, SFSP is run by approved sponsors, including school districts, local government agencies, camps, or private nonprofit organizations.

Sponsors provide free meals to children who come to eat at a central site, such as a school or a community center. They receive payments from USDA for the meals they serve through their State agencies.

How Does SFSP Work?

Sponsors enter into agreements with State agencies to serve reimbursable meals through SFSP. Schools, local government agencies, camps, and faith-based and other nonprofit community organizations that have the ability to manage a food service program may be SFSP sponsors. Sponsors may manage one or more sites.

Sites are places in low-income communities where children can come to receive meals at no cost in a safe and supervised environment. Sites may be located in a variety of settings, including schools, parks, community centers, libraries, farmers' markets, apartment complexes, churches, and migrant centers. Sites may also choose to offer enrichment opportunities for children, such as reading, physical activity, or nutrition education.

How Can Children and Teens Participate in SFSP?

Children 18 and younger may receive free meals and snacks at any open SFSP site. Meals and snacks are also available through SFSP to persons with disabilities who are over age 18 and participate in school programs for people with mental or physical disabilities.

SALEM, Ore. (AP) - Several counties in Western Oregon and Southwest Washington issued burn bans Wednesday after firefighters battled dozens of brush fires. KATU-TV reports Marion, Clackamas, Linn, Wahkiakum and Cowlitz counties issued burn bans Wednesday at least in part because of warmer-than-normal temperatures and winds throughout the region.

One of the fires reported near Stayton, Oregon Tuesday night, grew to 60 acres (24 hectares) and prompted evacuations. People were allowed to return home Wednesday. Crews also battled a wind-driven fire near Longview, Washington.

Fire officials report that their firefighters have primarily been responding to burns that got out of control because of the wind.

(CNN) - The spring flood outlook is not good news for those already devastated by flooding in the Midwest and down the Mississippi River, according to an outlook released Thursday by the US National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration (NOAA).

"This is shaping up to be a potentially unprecedented flood season, with more than 200 million people at risk for flooding in their communities," said Ed Clark, director of NOAA's National Water Center in Tuscaloosa, Alabama. NOAA's outlook calls for nearly two-thirds of the lower 48 states to face an elevated risk of flooding through May, with the potential for major to moderate flooding in 25 states across the Great Plains, Midwest and down through the Mississippi River valley.

NOAA calls for above-average precipitation during spring for most of the continental United States, heightening flood concerns in many locations. The only portion of the country expected to see below-average precipitation is the Pacific Northwestern states of Washington and Oregon.

As for temperature outlook, the eastern third of the country is expected to see above-average temperatures, while most of the Great Plains is due for below-average temperatures. Read more

"It's human nature to think we are masters of our environment, the lords of creation," said Mr. Remus, who works for the United States Army Corps of Engineers. But there are limits, he said. And the storm last week that caused him so much trouble was beyond what his network of dams can control. Mr. Remus controls an extraordinary machine – the dams built decades ago to tame a river system that drains parts of 10 states and two Canadian provinces. But it was designed for a different era, a time before climate change and the extreme weather it can bring.

Should he try to hold back the surging Missouri River but risk destroying a major dam, potentially releasing a 45-foot wall of water? Or should he relieve the pressure by opening the spillway, purposefully adding to the flooding of towns, homes and farmland for hundreds of miles. To save Gavins Point, he ordered its spillways opened. At its peak, 100,000 cubic feet of water per second, the same as Niagara Falls, poured into a river already surging toward record heights. The financial impact could be more than $1.3 billion, Nebraska Governor Pete Ricketts said. That includes $449 million in damage to roads, levees and other infrastructure, $440 million in crop losses, and $400 million in cattle losses. Gov. Ricketts estimated that more than 2 000 homes and 340 businesses were damaged or destroyed, totaling at least $85 million. "I don't think there's ever been a disaster this widespread in Nebraska," Ricketts said.

Devastation from tropical Cyclone Idai, which made landfall on 14 March close to Beira City in Mozambique. The scale of damage caused in Beira, Mozambique's fourth largest city, is described as "massive and horrifying." An IFRC team that reached the devastated city on Sunday, said that it seemed that 90 percent of the area is completely destroyed. The National Disaster Management Institute (INGC) estimates that 600,000 people are currently at risk and in urgent need of humanitarian assistance in the affected areas.

The President of Zimbabwe declared a state of disaster after the Cyclone Idai weather system hit eastern Zimbabwe, with Manicaland Province hardest-hit. See a video

Hundreds of people are missing and the death count is expected to rise in all the countries affected, as rescue workers gain access to remote areas cut off by rain, flooding and damaged roads. Aerial photos of the affected regions show total devastation, with survivors restricted to the few "islands" of high ground while their homes are submerged around them.

The European Union said it was releasing $3.9 million in emergency aid, while Britain has pledged $7.9 million. The United Arab Emirates announced that it was sending $5 million in emergency aid. Three Indian navy ships also diverted to Beira, arriving Tuesday and distributing food, medicine, clothing and water.

The cyclone was particularly devastating for the impoverished region with poor infrastructure because its meandering path meant it made landfall twice – first as a tropical depression and then, 11 days later, as a Category 2 cyclone. The storm has also been blamed for 10 deaths in South Africa and Madagascar.

Lives and property will remain in severe peril through early this week along the northwestern coastline of Western Australia as Severe Tropical Cyclone Veronica slows down and unloads extreme rainfall.

Veronica is part of a one-two strike of tropical cyclones on Australia. Trevor first slammed into northeastern Northern Territory on Saturday. Veronica will follow with inundating rainfall along the Pilbara Coast through Monday, local time.

A rare tropical storm named Iba by the Brazilian Navy Hydrographic Center (BNHC) formed near the coast of Brazil on March 24, 2019. This is the first tropical storm to form in this region since 2010 and third ever in recorded history.

While subtropical systems in South Atlantic Ocean form roughly once a year, the last time a pure tropical system formed there was in March 2010 - 90Q also informally known as Anita. Tropical Storm 90Q is the second known tropical cyclone to form in the cooler South Atlantic Ocean.

The first tropical cyclone ever seen in recorded history in the Southern Atlantic was Catarina in March 2004. Catarina made landfall in the Santa Catarina province of Brazil as a Category 1 hurricane equivalent on March 27, 2004, killing three people and injuring 185. It damaged 38,000 structures and destroyed 1,478.

About 70% of fresh produce sold in the US has pesticide residues on it even after it is washed, according to a health advocacy group. According to the Environmental Working Group's annual analysis of US Department of Agriculture data, strawberries, spinach and kale are among the most pesticide-heavy produce, while avocados, sweetcorn and pineapples had the lowest level of residues.

More than 92% of kale tested contained two or more pesticide residues, according to the analysis, and a single sample of conventionally farmed kale could contain up to 18 different pesticides. Dacthal - the most common pesticide found, which was detected in nearly 60% of kale samples, is banned in Europe and classified as a possible human carcinogen in the US.

Other foods on the group's "dirty dozen" list include grapes, cherries, apples, tomatoes and potatoes. In contrast, its "clean 15" list includes avocados, onions and cauliflower.

Attention anglers! Make sure that you dispose of fishing line properly! Fishing line & hooks left behind can ensnare & kill wildlife! Just last summer this Osprey was found tangled in fishing line with the hook stuck in its tongue. Thankfully, someone found it & called us to help. The bird was able to be released later that day, but would have certainly died if it had not been discovered.

A young whale that washed up in the Philippines died from “gastric shock” after ingesting 40kg (88 lbs) of plastic bags. Images from the autopsy showed endless piles of rubbish being extracted from the inside of the animal, which was said to have died from “gastric shock” after ingesting all the plastic.

Marine biologist Darrell Blatchley, who also owns the D’Bone Collector Museum, said that in the 10 years they have examined dead whales and dolphins, 57 of them were found to have died due to accumulated rubbish and plastic in their stomachs. Read more

The Palm Cockatoo, which can make its own musical instrument, is only found on the top of Cape York in far north Queensland, Australia, but its numbers are declining rapidly.

Researchers fear the distinctive black bird, which is Australia's largest cockatoo, could soon disappear because its habitat is being lost to mining and land clearing.

BY TRAPPING HEAT from the sun, greenhouse gases have kept Earth's climate habitable for humans and millions of other species. But those gases are now out of balance and threaten to change drastically which living things can survive on this planet—and where.

Carbon dioxide (CO₂): Carbon dioxide is the primary greenhouse gas, responsible for about three-quarters of emissions. It can linger in the atmosphere for thousands of years. In 2018, carbon dioxide levels reached 411 parts per million at Hawaii's Mauna Loa Atmospheric Baseline Observatory, the highest monthly average ever recorded. Carbon dioxide emissions mainly come from burning organic materials: coal, oil, gas, wood, and solid waste.

Methane (CH₄): The main component of natural gas, methane is released from landfills, natural gas and petroleum industries, and agriculture (especially from the digestive systems of grazing animals). A molecule of methane doesn't stay in the atmosphere as long as a molecule of carbon dioxide—about 12 years—but it is at least 84 times more potent over two decades. It accounts for about 16 percent of all greenhouse gas emissions.

Nitrous Oxide (N₂O): Nitrous oxide occupies a relatively small share of global greenhouse gas emissions—about six percent—but it is 264 times more powerful than carbon dioxide over 20 years, and its lifetime in the atmosphere exceeds a century, according to the IPCC. Agriculture and livestock, including fertilizer, manure, and burning of agricultural residues, along with burning fuel, are the biggest sources of nitrous oxide emissions.

Industrial gases: Fluorinated gases such as hydrofluorocarbons, perfluorocarbons, chlorofluorocarbons, sulfur hexafluoride (SF₆), and nitrogen trifluoride (NF₃) have heat-trapping potential thousands of times greater than CO₂ and stay in the atmosphere for hundreds to thousands of years. Accounting for about 2 percent of all emissions, they're used as refrigerants, solvents, and in manufacturing, sometimes occurring as byproducts.

Greenhouse gases have far-ranging environmental and health effects. They cause climate change by trapping heat, and they also contribute to respiratory disease from smog and air pollution. Extreme weather, food supply disruptions, and increased wildfires are other effects of climate change caused by greenhouse gases. The typical weather patterns we've grown to expect will change; some species will disappear; others will migrate or grow.

Quail Trail Bus Schedule

The Quail Trail Schedule has been revised, effective Monday 10/08/2018. The reason for the changes is to aid young adults living in Chiloquin (and surrounding areas) traveling to/from Eagle Ridge High School in Klamath Falls. The students depend on the Quail to get to/from school. Now students may ride Route 2 to get to school, and catch Route 4 to go home after school - cutting their commute time by roughly 4 hours!

Weekly Meetings

ChiloQuilters

Meet on Thursdays from 11:00 AM into the afternoon at Two Rivers Art Gallery; hours are flexible. A sack lunch is recommended since meetings usually extend into mid-afternoon. Everyone interested in quilting is welcome! For more information, contact Linda Wood (541-783-3879) or Morna Bastian (541-783-2542 or jnmbastian@centurytel.net).

Linus Quilters meet the last Friday of the month from 11:00 AM into the afternoon, at Two Rivers Gallery

Needle Arts Club

Meets on the 1st and 3rd Tuesday of each month, from 1:30 - 3:30 at Two Rivers Art Gallery. Have fun, learn new crafts and get help working on current projects. If you do any type of needle crafts, i.e. knit, crochet, beading,, etc. we would love to have you come join us! For information, contact Karyl Gudge (541)589-2479.

CHAIR Exercise practice.

Join us on Thursdays at 10 am at the Chiloquin Community Center. This is a no charge for the activity. Donations are cheerfully accepted to support our Community Center.

This enjoyable & gentle practice is a NO GETTING DOWN ON THE FLOOR and will help you to gain strength and improve balance as you go easy on the knees as well as feeling yourself challenged as much as you want it to be. Everyone is welcome. No equipment is required. You may bring some hand weights (two water bottles or soup cans for weights). Wear comfortable, stretchy clothing to get the most out of this practice.

Email Sandi at sandiselk@yahoo.com so she can email you to let you know about any changes/cancellations due to weather, illness or her travel. Any questions - call at 541.281.4572

Yoga practice (and I emphasize the word practice) Mondays and Wednesdays at 10:00 am- 11 am at the Chiloquin Community Center. Practice is geared toward those over 55.

No charge, but donations for CVIP will be gratefully accepted. Any questions, call Lorna 541-783-2238.

Calling All Veterans

Chiloquin area veterans have started getting together regularly to get to know each other, exchange service-connected stories, and discuss local community issues. The group meets every Thursday morning at 9 at the Potbelly Café where they enjoy chatting while drinking coffee, eating snacks, and, for some, having breakfast. This informal get-together is open to all vets, men and women, and generally lasts an hour or so. Please feel free to join us.

Monthly Meetings

Chiloquin FCE (Family and Community Education)

We are a part of The Oregon Association for Family and Community Education. Our local community service is to raise funds for Chiloquin High School and Home School children who are headed to college. We raise these funds and have fun doing it. Our monthly meetings consist of a program provided by either the National Association for Family and Community Education, OSU Extension Service or one written by FCE members, a business meeting and a potluck lunch.

If you are interested in getting more involved in your community in a relaxing friendly way, meeting some of your neighbors and getting to know more about this area, please come by and check us out.

We meet on the 2nd Wednesday at 10am, usually at the Chiloquin Christian Center Community Room, but sometimes it's at member's homes or a field trip. You can call Sandie Bolyard (541-892-2336) or Judy Pedder (541-783-3227). We look forward to meeting you.

Volunteer Opportunities

Chiloquin Fire & Rescue - Volunteer Opportunities: Firefighter, EMS, Apparatus Operator, Driver, Support, Fire Prevention, Fire Investigation, Facilities Maintenance, Vehicle Maintenance.
541-783-3860

Two Rivers Gallery: The gallery, which is a community project and has no paid employees, is seeking people to “gallery sit”. This involves talking to people who stop by to browse and shop. Contact the Gallery @ 783-3326.

Sage Community School – Sage Community School is looking for community volunteers interested in assisting Sage Community School. See Board Meeting info under Monthly Meetings. If you are interested in offering your services as a volunteer in any way, please contact Anna Fowler 541.783.2533~Office afowler@sagecommunityschool.org

Klamath Humane Society – volunteers needed at the Humane Society. We are getting started on our disaster program and need volunteers in the Chiloquin area. We also are looking for people who can write grants. Foster homes for dogs and cats are always needed. For more information, contact the shelter at 882-1119 or e-mail staff@klamathhumanesociety.com.

Start Making A Reader Today (SMART) - a statewide program working with children K-3 during school hours. Each volunteer works one-on-one with a child for ½ hour, helping them read (or reading to the youngest). We always need volunteers, whether scheduled every week or merely as a substitute reader when the regular reader is unable to attend. Call the number below for an application or fill out an on-line application at www.getsmartoregon.org. It will be the most rewarding hour you ever volunteer! Contact the SMART office at 273-2424 or the Chiloquin Elementary School at 783-2338 or call Junie Stacey at 541-281-9787

Chiloquin Branch Library - The library has many ways to get involved and many fun ways to contribute to your local community. Some opportunities:

1. Evening volunteer: The library is open until 6pm on Tuesdays, Weds and Thursdays. We would really appreciate a volunteer who could help us out with closing tasks for the last hour or so on these days (especially Tuesdays).
2. Story time: If you would like to read two or three stories to a small group or preschoolers, and lead them in a simple craft or activity, the library staff can use your help.
3. Summer Reading Program: There are many opportunities during the summer to help out with this very worthwhile program.
4. Honor collections: These are racks of paperback books, magazines and audiovisual materials that patrons may check out without a library card. By offering these collections, more people in the community can be reached and a greater diversity of materials can be made available without incurring the costs of cataloging and processing items for the general collections. The staff would like to have some help in keeping these racks orderly, attractive and relevant. Check with the librarian for information on how to “adopt a rack”.
5. Help with sorting donations.
6. Go through Books for Sale section and tidy it once a month or so.

Stop in at the library and see what they need or give them a call at 541-783-3315.
